SPOILOVER ADVANTAGES OF INFANT ARI INDUSTRY COMING TO GLADES

Flood Control Contracts Awarded And Advertised Bring Effective Relief To Vast Agricultural Area

A contract on L-5, invitation for bids on L-12 and work on a culvert at the site of pumping station No. 7 coupled with the near completion of L-5 and L-12 go far to round out the work of the overall Flood Agricultural Area and bring effective flood and water control to the Glades. It was announced recently by Lawrence A. Farrer, Chief of the Metrology and Regulation section of the Jacksonville District Office, Corps of Engineers, that in order to maintain higher water levels in the North New River Canal between the lake and Pumping Station 7, the Corps is building a temporary control structure at that site. With that structure in operation it will be possible to supply water to agricultural areas along the canal without wasteful discharge. The higher water levels in the canal between the structure and Belle Glade will enable ground water levels to be maintained at higher levels and will reduce subsidence and burning of the valuable muck soils in that area.

The work consists of constructing a temporary 5-barrel 60 inch metal pipe and earth dike control structure in North New River Canal at the site of future Pumping Station 7 which is on the east side of U. S. Highway 27, just north of Broward-Palm Beach County line.

Earth from the spoil banks along the south side of the canal will be used for constructing the dike. Other features of the construction will be sand cement riprap and corrugated metal culverts to pass the flow of the canal following any heavy rains that occur. Removable flash-board discharge controls for the culverts will be asphalt-coated treated timbers.

Farrer said that rainfall over southern Florida has been much below normal this summer, and serious water shortages are expected to develop in the state this winter. The water surface

Parents Protest Lack Of Control At Busy Crossing

Close to seventy-five parents residing east of Main Street and north of the Canal have signed a petition requesting a stop light, street markers, a policeman or woman, or something to insure that school children may cross over main street north of the bridge to and from school. It was pointed out that some youngsters have been found going under the bridge on the banks of the canal to avoid delay and danger of pushing their way through traffic. "It will be pointed out to school officials, police and the City Fathers that a cut-off to divert the hundreds of trucks passing Belle Glade's busiest corner (Main Street bridge) during the season would reduce traffic and pedestrian hazards at that corner. If the Duda Road were extended north to intersect the Wedgworth-Knight private road from the east, all truck traffic from the east could be diverted in that direction."

A score of worried Mamas can do wonders — let's see what two or three score Mamas can accomplish. Pappa won't have much rest for a while either. Incidentally, something must be done to protect the kids, as well as you and me.

Tall grass growing at this time of year at congested corners doesn't add to the safety of approaching cars with crossing paths.

FRED A. (Dick) LeFILS

Fifty-two year old farmer died at 2:30 Friday morning in the Glades Memorial Hospital, Belle Glade, following a recurring heart seizure.

A native Floridian—Geneva—Mr. LeFils has been a resident of the Glades since 1925 when he was a crew member of the mail boat from Clewiston to Pahokee, Canal Point and Kraemer Island.

Later he participated in the development of the Glades working with a dredge boat on the early canal digging. Farming came as a natural sequence to the boatman of those days, and Mr. LeFils was among the Glades' successful farmers up until his first heart ailment of several years ago.

He was a charter member of the local Masonic Lodge by transfer from Pahokee, was an active Rotarian for years and participated in community efforts enthusiastically.

A fun-loving natural wit, Mr. LeFils thoroughly enjoyed a campaign for the legislature, even though he was not top man—his humor bubbled naturally and was most effective when written or spoken without effort.

As one of the organizers of The Belle Glade Herald Publishers, he was President of the corporation and associated with THE HERALD until his death. His column in THE HERALD was anxiously awaited weekly as long as he found time to write it.

Miss Esther Lee and Dick were married in the twenties and both were busy in community and church life rearing a family until her untimely death several years ago. Joan (Mrs. Swearingen) Fred, Jr., Richard and William were cared of the widowed father until his marriage with Marjorie Perkins in 1954. Ralph, three months old is the son of the last marriage.

Brothers, sisters and other members of the family have been notified and funeral arrangements will be completed with Weathering Funeral Home after a family conference. Burial will be in Hillcrest Cemetery in West Palm Beach.

The world is better in having had Dick LeFils as a journeyman, the community has lost a substantial citizen, The Herald has lost a warm-hearted and genial fellow worker, the family has lost a faithful, loving and devoted parent and husband.

BILL EVANS

Mr. Evans is a twenty-year resident in Belle Glade as a farmer and crop harvester, and this is his first offering for any political office. His father G. (Pop) Evans has been a member of the Commission and held other public offices since the memory of man runneth.

Bill has been active in Masonic work, having served through the City and including Worshipful Master and is active in the Baptist church.

His shy on promises only offering voters a progressive and business-like city government, as far as he can influence it.

Industrialization Plans Told To 100 Glades Folks Here

RDB's Glades Committee joined by the Jaycees were hosts to about 100 Glades folks Thursday night where part of the story of securing the Pratt & Whitney plant for this county was told, and suggestions made for leveling Glades year-round economy thru smaller industrial organizations.

Claude Shirley, Chairman of the Glades Committee, Cal Garner, President, Ralph Blank Manager of Hercules, Inc., Secretary of the County organization told of the work and plans of the county group, and where the local committee fits in.

Paul Rardin, Chairman of the County Commission, as Master of ceremonies, introduced Howard A. Smith of the Florida Development Commission, who complimented the Glades on having such an effective working unit to promote its industrialization.

Mr. Smith joined Paul Rardin in his pronouncement that getting new industries "don't happen". The State Commission representative told his audience that hard work gathering facts and professional aid in properly presenting them is the secret in many cases.

He said of plants that were located because of insufficient information presented to folks who had only an hour or so to investigate one community.

Representatives from Canal Point, Pahokee, Belle Glade, South Bay, Boca City and Lake Harbor included many ladies.

A one hundred percent growth in population and a leveling to a year-round economy will come sooner than we expect, if we give a healthy push.

The plant will, at the outset, be an engineering and development facility, an auxiliary to the main engineering and manufacturing plants of the company at East Hartford, Conn. Later it will go into engine manufacturing and will employ "several thousand" production workers.

LEO JAMES, WINNER OF THE JAYCEES ANNUAL $1,000 SCHOLARSHIP is executing signature cards for Ed Lively, President of the Florida National Bank while Barnes G. Smith, President and John Kinslow, Committee Chairman for the Jaycees look on.

The Jaycees in selecting the first winner of this scholarship considered the need of the individual, his plans for a career, his scholastic standing, his extra curricular activities and general standing with his teachers and his classmates.

Leo has participated in normal high school activities and has made an outstanding record as cadet with the Civil Air Patrol. Cadet First Lieutenant James was chosen on the national level as the first cadet from the State of Florida to participate in an exchange with foreign nations and has returned from a trip to England as a United States Representative.

Leo reported to the Rotary Club Friday on his trip and his impressions of the group's visit in private homes and as guests of the RAF. "We were royally entertained everywhere," says Leo. "The contacts of nearly enough to make a meal!" he continued, "and we were entertained well!" Leo was a member of the boys were never hungry."

"In many places we were billeted in pairs with private families and every day was a continual round of 'tea' and eight-seeing and a word of appreciation on our part."

"Our boys were frequently complimented on the smartness of our appearance, and this despite the almost continual rainfall."

"The American boys had to get used to the custom of having tea served in bed and the disappearance of shoes, the first thing in the morning — we found out that the shoes were taken away to be cleaned and shined for us."

Leo has left to enter the University of Florida.

SITTING ON THE BRINK OF THE GREATEST EXPANSION AND DEVELOPMENT in the history of this county, this Community will progress if we manage to stay out of the way of progress.

If we boost it a bit by getting our own house in order with public facilities, we will gain much more. VOTE — and vote for those whom you think will give you ACTION!

Florida Stands High As Vegetable State

Palm Beach County was first in 1954 in sweet corn production with 17,352 acres, according to US Department of Commerce.

Palm Beach and Broward counties were one two in snap bean production in '54, with 32,968 and 10,252 acres respectively. Florida had 11 counties in the top 100.

Our county was fifth in US in cabbage produced in '54 with 2,248 acres and St. John was third ranking in US with 4,048 acres.

Standing fourth in US in all vegetables in both 1954 and 1955 dollars received, our county, according to US Dept. of Commerce had 75,493 acres valued at $20,951,890.

All of these figures vary slightly from those by local folks who probably are more accurate, but at least we are ranked with others.

hit the ground at 35-40 miles per hour. (Natural landing is at 30 miles per hour).

The next thing I knew I was being picked up on a stretcher and carried to a waiting ambulance to be taken to the hospital.

I had a broken knee cap and several bruises and scratches.

It was 56 days before I was able to get around without my crutches and today I'm as good as new but I will never be able to jump again. That doesn't matter to me because each time I get close to an airplane I remember that day when I thought I had 25 seconds to live.

Pvt. Lonnie Hight
By Robert W. Cress
as told to me by Pvt. Lonnie Joe Hight

Perhaps one of the luckiest soldiers in Fort Benning, Georgia is Pvt. Lonnie Joe Hight of Belle Glade, Florida, who on the 23 May 1956 after jumping from a C-119, landed approximately 250 feet to certain death but was saved by a fellow jumper.

Here is Pvt. Hight's own story:

At 0700, 23 May 1956, K Company of the 197th ABCZ was loading into the waiting C-119 at Campbell AFB, Fort Campbell, Kentucky.

There was number 14 on the stick. (Line of men) to me it was just another day but it was to soon turn into a nightmare.

The plane took off for the jump area at 0730. Everyone was joking and talking as usual.

At 0755 the Jumpmaster told us to check our equipment. Less than five minutes later the warning buzzer sounded and everyone was ready. Then came the green light and the first man hit the silk.

In five seconds I was plunging toward the earth. But immediately I noticed something was wrong because I hadn't felt the usual jolt and tug of my suspension lines and looking up I noticed to my horror that I had a streamer, certain death to a Paratrooper.

(A streamer is when the chute doesn't open but just trails behind).

At the same time I hit something and I felt two arms close around me and I saw that other man had reached out and caught me as I went passed him.

We were still about 800 feet from the ground and I knew we were going to hit hard. We received a letter of congratulation from U. S. Jackson, Commander, U. S. Navy. "During his fourteen week Pre-flight course he has demonstrated by his attitude and diligence that he possesses the high qualifications necessary to become a Naval officer. His successful completion of courses, which are on the college level, represent no little accomplishments and you may well feel justly proud of him," the officer stated. "I wish to congratulate you on your son on the successful completion of this step towards his commission and Naval Aviator's Wings."

Wright graduated from Belle Glade High School before entering the Naval Aviator Cadet Program through the Marine Corps Air Station, Miami, Fla.

He is now assigned to the Whiting Field Naval Auxiliary Air Station, Milton, Fla., for primary flight training.

CHURCHES OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

The vital importance of honoring God in thought and in deed will be brought out in the Christian Science services this Sunday.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon on "Substance" is the Golden Text from Proverbs (23:1): "A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches, and loving favour rather than silver and gold."

The importance of spiritual values will be emphasized in readings from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (23:5): "Take away wealth, fame, and social organizations, which weigh not one jot in the balance of God, and we get clearer views of Principle."

Sermons At Everglades Presbyterian Church

The sermon topics of Dr. J. Leighton Scott, pastor of the Everglades Presbyterian Church for Sunday, Sept. 9 are as follows: Morning service, "The Privilege of Prayer." Evening service, "The Privilege of Prayer."

Commit thy way unto the Lord; trust also in him; and he shall bring it to pass. (Psalm 37:1-9)

A little girl had to undergo an operation. Her mother, bringing to tell her about it, delayed so long until they were about to leave for the hospital. She then tried to explain to the child where they were going. The five-year-old protested; she refused to go.

The distressed mother sent up a brief prayer for wisdom. She then said to her daughter, "Shall we speak to Jesus about it?" The little one closed her eyes as her mother prayed. The child's fear fled. From that moment until the good-bye when the child was left in her bed in the hospital ward, there was not a whimper. Everything was safe and right because it was handed over to the Lord Jesus.

So it is for all God's children. As we commit ourselves to Christ, we trust also. But more than that is expected of us. Our inward trust calls forth an outward expression of delight in our Lord. It is this attitude of confidence, as we pray, that He rewards.

PRAYER
Our Father, we commit entirely to Thee today our needs, our problems, and our circumstances. Send us forth full of joy, knowing that in Thy great faithfulness Thou wilt honour our trust. In Jesus' name we ask it. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
Will my life today show that my confidence is in God?

EDUCATION FOR SAFETY. September means back-to-school for thousands of Florida children. To be complete, their education should include some instruction in traffic safety, urges Carol Lane, noted motoring authority and women's travel director of Shell Oil Company.

While thousands of high schools throughout the country offer driver training courses, safety education can start earlier, according to Miss Lane. The youngsters (above) are being taught the safe way to cross the street — one phase of a recent prize-winning project in the Carol Lane Awards for Traffic Safety program. The awards, totaling $3,500 a year, are administered by the National Safety Council through a grant of Shell Oil Company. "By teaching Florida children the elements of traffic safety, we will make them more careful, safer motorists when they are old enough to drive," says Miss Lane.

TEEN TOWN
By Lynette Driggers
Hi There Teen-agers! Summer vacations are over and another school year has started. Vacation-time is fine but getting back in the swing of things in school can't be best.

Of course it will take most of this week for us to get settled into our regular school routine and get a good "study-habit" routine worked out for our homework. Good study-habits keep confusion at home down to "normal" and such scenes as this never take place: Time is almost midnight, you are studying (?) and your parents are beginning to wonder if you are really the "brain child" they thought you were or did you inherit that same "dumb streak" they suffered through when they were in high school and had never gotten around to telling you about it.

Suddenly Dad says, "Now when I was a boy —". Students ignore, ignore, ignore, by then, you are well aware that another school year has officially started, both at home Dorsey's Barber Shop, one hair cut; Barney's, two silver dollars; Daddy Dick's one boy and one girl shirt; Kahn's, one "Ship & Shore House; Bert's, one boy shirt; Raulerson Oil Supply, two new book holders; McCord's Jewelry, one pearl necklace; Mathis & Boe, one bracelet; Sue's Specialty Shop, earrings; F. J. Harris Stationery, five gallons gas; Forrest's, four yards material; McClatchy's Tire Service, five gallons gas; Colton's Beauty Shop, Futuoma lipstick case; Fear's Dept. Ford Trucks Cost Less!

"I own as much as $20 a day more because my Ford 1-800 trades job on every new machine on comparable trucks," says Mike Barker, Ceres Industries.

"Low cost, dependability, toughness—that's what I get in Ford trucks," says John Kark. "Ford's power takes you through tough going that would stop any other truck."

Only a Ford pickup gives you the economy of modern Short Stroke design in both 6 and 8-1.

Ford's low prices mean real savings. But the job-the-job savings you get in Ford trucks count even more!

Take running costs; they're downright low. Because only Ford gives you the gas and oil economy of Short Stroke power. Only Ford offers Short Stroke engines backed by over $ billion miles of on-the-job experience.

Upkeep costs are low because Ford trucks are built extra strong. They outlast all other leading makes—proved by insurance experts. That same stand-up ruggedness means greater dependability, too.

And when it comes time to trade—you'll gain from Ford's traditionally high resale value, too. You'll find that, from start to finish, Ford trucks cost less.

EDUCATION FOR SAFETY. September means back-to-school for thousands of Florida children. To be complete, their education should include some instruction in traffic safety, urges Carol Lane, noted motoring authority and women's travel director of Shell Oil Company.

While thousands of high schools throughout the country offer driver training courses, safety education can start earlier, according to Miss Lane. The youngsters (above) are being taught the safe way to cross the street — one phase of a recent prize-winning project in the Carol Lane Awards for Traffic Safety program. The awards, totaling $3,500 a year, are administered by the National Safety Council through a grant of Shell Oil Company. "By teaching Florida children the elements of traffic safety, we will make them more careful, safer motorists when they are old enough to drive," says Miss Lane.

TEEN TOWN
By Lynette Driggers
Hi There Teen-agers! Summer vacations are over and another school year has started. Vacation-time is fine but getting back in the swing of things in school can't be best.

Of course it will take most of this week for us to get settled into our regular school routine and get a good "study-habit" routine worked out for our homework. Good study-habits keep confusion at home down to "normal" and such scenes as this never take place: Time is almost midnight, you are studying (?) and your parents are beginning to wonder if you are really the "brain child" they thought you were or did you inherit that same "dumb streak" they suffered through when they were in high school and had never gotten around to telling you about it.

Suddenly Dad says, "Now when I was a boy —". Students ignore, ignore, ignore, by then, you are well aware that another school year has officially started, both at home Dorsey's Barber Shop, one hair

Migrant Health Subject Of Federal Study Here

Recent action by the Federal Government gives Palm Beach County and the Glades area special assistance in checking medical and health services to Migrant Agricultural workers.

The Florida State Board of Health and Dr. Brumback of the Palm Beach County Health Unit have announced that a special grant of some $250,000 has just been made by the Federal Government to Palm Beach and Collier counties to provide a special five man survey and research health teams to work with the Migrant Agricultural workers. The program, as set up, will run for five years and the above two counties were selected for this project due to the high concentration of migratory workers who annually visit these areas.

The tremendous number of migrant agricultural workers who arrive each winter season poses to an extreme the resources of our local Health Unit whose personnel must serve not only the permanent population but the migrants as well.

Dr. Brumback, our County Health officer has long been recognized nationwide for his interest and work with the Migrant Laborers. He will be headquarter for one of the teams, which will be composed of technical personnel to be recruited from all over the United States. Nationwide attention will be focused on our area and information gathered by the teams will prove invaluable in improving the health of the Migrant worker.

Has Your Child Had His Polio Shots?

The State Board of Health is asking all parents of school children up to 19 years of age to be sure their child has had his polio shots.

With plenty of polio vaccine available, no parent should deny his child this important protection.

Dr. Sharpe of the Public Health Department. Your child may be treated by your own physician or at the local health department.

Vaccine is available through commercial channels for those over 20.

Migrant Project In Child Welfare

Miss Martha Chapman, Senior Child Welfare Worker, has been employed by District Ten Welfare Board, according to Thomas E. Penick, Chairman, to provide child welfare services in the western half of Palm Beach County effective in September.

Miss Chapman is well qualified for this work, in that she has a Master's Degree in Social Work and experience in the field of child welfare.

In describing the project, Miss Ruth Schach, District Director, said this beginning of child welfare services to migrant families gives every indication of meeting some of the challenging needs of children in the Glades area. We see Miss Chapman's job as being a combination case-work-community organization one, with the additional responsibility of securing information which would be of help to the Department in understanding migrants, and in determining the types of services needed and the best ways in which to provide services.

Services which Miss Chapman will provide are: Referral and information in fields of welfare and health, social studies originating through out-of-town inquiries; provide the usual type of child welfare services for (a) abandoned and deserted children, (b) children not living with parents or relatives; service to a child who is living in a home in which parents or relatives are unable to care for him because of an emergency such as illness, death or imprisonment, and for who house-keeper service is not available or desirable; services for runaways and unattached adolescents, and services for unmarried mothers under 21 when there is no place for the girl and the baby to live and no plan for their care.
